

DIAPHORITE

Diaphorite is a rare mineral found in certain hydrothermal vein deposits with sulfides and other silver-bearing sulfosalts. Northern Peninsula.

Menominee County: Aquila Resources, Inc. Back 40 Project, sections 1 and 12, T35N, R29W: As a minor constituent in oxidized massive sulfide (gossan) (Quigley and Mahin, 2008).

UPDATE FROM: Robinson, G.W., and Carlson, S.M., 2013, Mineralogy of Michigan Update: published online by A.E. Seaman Mineral Museum, Houghton, MI, 46p.